

Hi Joe,

The first thing I did when I got the letter from the RMV saying I could go get my license back was plan a surprise for my wife and kids.

About a month ago, my 4 year old told me she was sad that I didn't ever come get her anymore from school like all the other parents. She was also asking why mommy was driving my car now instead of me. She continuously asked me to come get her and I couldn't. It ripped my heart out.

Next, I went to go pick up my children, and it made me so happy. I will never forget the happy smile on her face when I walked in. She ran to me and smiled and jumped on me in surprise.

My wife was overjoyed to get some relief as a chauffeur. She was home at a reasonable hour for dinner for the first time since my arrest five months ago. I had everyone home and dinner ready and the stress was lifted.

I drove to a Woburn carnival on Saturday and we spent the day there on the rides and having a blast. On Sunday we hosted friends for dinner. I was able to drive to gymnastics as well.

I had a nice weekend with the family and I am so relieved to have my freedom back. I will do anything to help other people in my predicament. Please let me know if there is anything I can do for you. Thank-you!

So thank you again for making this all possible. Here are some pics of my family.

Sincerely,

Mr.
